

AWEJ Vol.3 No.2 June 2012

pp. 1 - 2

Contents

No.	Article	Page
1.	Content	1-2
2.	Letter from the editor	3
3.	Changes in Awareness of Academic Reading Strategies among Arab Medical Students	4-30
4.	Academic Listening Tasks for ESL Students: Difficulties and Implication	31-47
5.	Investigating Teaching and Learning Practices of Second Language ESP Writing at Tertiary Level in Yemen	48-75
6.	Students' Reactions to Writing Clinic Visits and Teacher-Student Conferences on Corrections Made Based on Coded Feedback	76-95
7.	The Most Common Spelling Errors among Omani Learners	96-116
8.	Relevance of Phonological Awareness Intervention to a Jordanian EFL Classroom	117-147
9.	The 'Folder' Methodology of Improving Writing	148-167

10.	Arabic Young Adult Literature in English	168-193
11.	The Use of Arabic in English Classes: A teaching Support or a Learning Hindrance?	194-232
12.	The Impacts of Language Awareness Grammar Teaching on Two Grammatical Items	233-265
13.	The Acquisition of Verb Inflections in Hijazi Arabic	266-304
14.	Understanding the Concept of Learner Autonomy in the Context of Second and Foreign Language Learning: Definitions, Misconceptions, and Applications	305-328
15.	Listening to English Connected Speech: A Problem and Solutions	329-364
16.	Rhetoric Transfer in L2 Writing: The Role of Second Language Proficiency	365-399
17.	Examining the Use of Arabic in English Classes at the Primary Stage in Hebron Government Schools, Palestine: Teachers' Perspective	400-436